MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

MARY ANDERSON AS GALATEA. In the Fifth Avenue Theatre last night Miss Mary Anderson gave her well-known and greatly admired impersonation of Galatea. It is an almost faultless work. Indeed, if an occasional confused climax of posture and gesture be excepted, and, perhaps, an occasional crudeness of modulation in the vocal treatment, it is quite perfect. The aspect is beautiful. The spirit is both guileless and passionate. The humorous parts are spoken and acted with absolute simplicity. There is not one trace of coquetry. The soul of the child is incarnated in the consummate purity of the woman; and the significance of the ideal and of the text is conveyed with the expertness and adequacy of accomplished art. In her performance last night Miss Anderson considerably deepened the tender, pathetic effect of the parting from Pyumalion-both by her exquisite by-play and her beautiful use of voice. The dressing of the part was observed to present a closer conformity to Grecian statuary models. Miss Anderson was applicated, with deep sympathy, and three or four times recalled upon the stage. A large and delighted audience saw this performance, and gave every token of projound enjoyment. The piece was done with the following cast:

MR. FREDERIC ARCHER'S FIRST RECITAL The first of Mr. Archer's new series of organ recitals occurred yesterday afternoon, at Chickering

The programme was excellently devised, and the performance was delightful. Mr. Archer played a sonata in E flat of Hamilton Clarke, a good composition, the first and third movements solid, full and rich, the second movement graceful and varied. He followed this with the Weber "Invitation to the Dance," in a capital arrangement, given with great brilliancy. Other important organ numbers were the andante from Romberg's symphony in E flat, coupled with Bach's " Prelude and Fugue," in D major—one of the larger fugueswhich was given in a masterful way, the pedal-playing especially good; Ketterer's "Marche Armenienne," upled with a brilliant allegro of Batiste (the Thomas Gavotte from Mignon being omitted), an elaborate ndante of C. Eckert, and Auber's overture, "Le Dies andante of C. Eckert, and Auber's overture, "Le Dieu et is Bayadere," Ame. Madeline Schiller played the Mendelssohn concerto in G minor, to Mr. Archer's necompaniment upon the organ with his own transcription of the orchestral score, which proved most ingenious and effective; and Lissi's transcription of portions of the "Midammer Night's Dream" music. Her performance was such as the public has learned long since to expect from this straightforward and sincere artist.

MISS HELEN BANCROFT AS JULIA.

At the Turf Club Theatre, last night, Miss Helen Bancroft, late of Daly's Theatre, appeared as Julia, in " The Hunchback," and was received with in. terest and favor by a small assemblage. Miss Bancroft's qualifications for this part were found to be personn beauty, sweetness of temperament, and considerable force of character, combined with a good measure of professional skill. Her ideal of Julia, following the accepted stage convention-from which, indeed, it is neither desirable nor easy to dapact-was seen to be correct; and her execution of it was marked by directness and spirit, and by delicate by-play. The lady could scarcely have expected to create any marked sensetion in offering, at this time, a new Julia. That field is exhausted. The performance, however, had the practical result of showing her to be a woman of talent and ener-getic purpose, and in this sense it may not have been in Valn. She was often and liberally applanded.

THE BIJOU THEATRE-VIRGINIA. Miss Madeline Lucette was put on last evening at the Bijou as Virginia, in the opera of that name. She proved musically ineffective but dramatically was stronger than Miss Couch, who created the part, and who, though she won respect for careful and carnest effort, did not make a popular success. But the role is a thankless one, and if it were to be made "leading" it would be only by an unusual combination of gifts in the would be only by an unusual commutation of gate in the performer. Miss Madeline Lucette makes a pretty picture, and her action is spirited. The play has been changed by the introduction of some new numbers, and of one or two points last evening which better suited the taste of the gallery than that of the parquette, and which should be immediately abandoned.

THE LIEDERKRANZ-ARION CONCERT. The programme of the Liederkranz-Arion concert this evening, for the benefit of the German sufferers, is very rich. The Liederkraus will sing Rhein berger's "Waldmorgen," and the Arion, Engelsborg's "Se Welt" and a serenade by E. Kremser; while the societie jointly will give Eugelsberg's " Die Mutterspruche" and century. Miss Schell will sing two songs of Taibert, Miss Henne one of Schumann and Mr. Remnertz "The Two Grenaders"; besides which a crowd of other artists of distinction, all of whom have volunteered their services, will assist in various ways, so that not only from the parpose of it, but for the interest and value of the performance, the occasion is likely to be of extraordinary interest.

THE BROOKLYN LOAN EXHIBITION.

The Sheltering Arms Nursery should be materially benefited by the proceeds of " Ye Arte Loane and Fancle Bazaur," as the managers term it, which was opened at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn last evening. There was a variety to be seen that was at tractive and pleasant. The ladies who felt themselves unable to live up to a Rousseau, could console themselves with embroideries and china, while the Philis tine who had no affinity for Japanese bronzes could readily comprehend an oyster-stew. There were flowers and young ladies in mildly surprising costumes; there were trilobites and sugar plums, ceramics, with a "K," and Indian arrowheads, bedspreads and gods, Japane and tin.

There was shown the finest loan collection of pictures that has been brought togetaer in Brooklyn. It was something of a surprise to see the resources of Brooklyn private collections, and while the managers of the exbiblition are to be congratulated upon the success of their energetic efforts, the public is also greatly indebted to the gentlemen who sent contributions from their galleries. Pecuniarily the exhibition is a very valuable one, and there are many admirable examples of artists who have attained distinguished eminence. That the exhibition is one of so much importance is largely due to Mr. George I. Seney, who lent 120 out of the 190 paintings that were shown. A study of these pictures was sch in the nature of a reminiscence of past art seasons in this city. There was Col's "Springtime," well known from the engraving, loaned by D. C. Lyall, which not long ago was exhibited in an uptown sales gallery; there was kenout's "The Helping Hand," which has also been engraved and which many readers have admired at Schaus's; there was Kowalski's excellent "Horse Fair," there were several other paintings which formerly hing in Avery's art rooms, and the list might be continued. The interesting feature of the exidition was the unusually rail collection of landscapes by the shorts Rousseau, "the father of modern landscape," whose works are become comparatively zore even in our private galleries. For this we are again indicited to Mr. seney, who contributed eight examples of Rousseau. The largest is a study of a stretch of level ground and of foliage, the latter playing the prominent part in the scheme, while the coloring gives almost the impression of an Indian summer day. As is usual in such exhibitions, Diaz's pictures abound. One of some size is his figure-piece "Abundoned by Love." Corol is poorly represented. By Millet there is the wonderful little painting entitled, "Les Elanchisseures." There is a Troyon of much worth. a landscape and single cow, with a metallic example of Gerome, "The scatthet at the Sultan's Tomb," and "Preparing for the keast," by Alma Tadema, which is far below the standard of his pictures which were privately shown here a year ago. One of the most fascinating small pictures by G. H. Boughton which has been seen here is his "Pot an Feu," which would be more near perfection could we divest ourselves of the larking suspicion that the artist had aired his gaze too intentity upon Millet's peasants.

In genes, in which the exhibition is particularly strong, there are some admirable specimens of Jiminez's week, one "Interested in the Other Gaze," the other, "The Spanish Cafe," and Kowalski's "At the Farrier's, "Then the collection shows Vibert's "Visit to the Fort," betaille's and De Neuville's military themes, "The Smoker," by Mens hier, Jutes Breton's clever "In the Garden; Portrait of the Artist's Daughter," then for the granters of Jiminez's werk, one "Interested in the other articles enough ha there was Renouf's " The Helping Hand," which has als been engraved and which many readers have admired at

SEEKING TO DEFEAT BILLS.

A committee of the Council of Political Reform went to Albany last night to oppose the bills introduced by Senator Grady and "Tim" Campbell to bereass the pay of firemen and policemen. The adoption of this measure would add $750,000 to the expenses of the city this year and a still larger amount each succeeding year. The committee will also ask the Governor to veto Senator Browning's bill to provide for the payment of inspectors of election who failed to comply with the law in making out their returns.

THE FIRE RECORD.

A GAY SCENE AT THE ACADEMY.

The fancy dress ball of the Cercle Français de l'Harmonie occurred at the Academy of Music last evening. As early as 10 o'clock the merry-makers began to arrive, costamed in every conceivable and grotesque fasulon. They filed into the lobby where they were the targets for the curious eyes of scores of spectators, and passed s middle-aged warriors who guarded the entrance into the hall from beyond. A great deal of preliminary promenading was indulged in by the early comers, through the lobbies, up and flown the stairs comers, through the lossies, up and now has a the content and along the hallways of the Academy and many pretty costumes were displayed that were afterward swallowed up and lost in the mass and variety of color and design which cheracterized the ball-room. About 11 o'clock Arbuckle's orchestra, which furnished the march masic for the evening, crashed into the opening chords of the rand march ind the initial procession of the evening, which had for some time been in process of formation, began slowly to move around the handsomely decorated room. The scene was a curious one. There were gorgeonsly caparisoned pages, landsomely costumed ladies, knights, peasants, all the heroes and herodness of romance, and the familiar characters which figure in popular plays, the modern representatives of "The Mascot," "Givette," "Bilice Tayor" and other comic operas. In fact, there was the reproduction of everything picturesque and grotesque.

Two hours subsequent to the march the ball was at its height. During these two hours the ball room floor received constant accessions, and before that time had entirely capsed those who were present at the beginning of the festivities had already begun to depart. The scene was constantially changing, and at 1 o'clock the ball seemed a different one from that which was witnessed earlier in the evening. As the hours grew life,—or rather early,—the dance became more lively, and the music apparently more rapid. After 2 o'clock the crowds began to disappear, and at 3 o'clock the gay scene was nearly over. and along the hallways of the Academy and many pretty was nearly over.

INCIDENTS IN SOCIETY.

General William Cutting gave a ball at Delmonico's last evening in bonor of his nicee, Miss An-nic Cutting. The second and third floors of the house were used, the latter for dressing rooms and wine ooms. The ball-room was elaborately decorated with flowers and green foliage. No plants were used. Over each mirror were dense masses of camilias and ferns, and beneath them were banks of brilliant tulips and ilies-of-the-valley. Between the mirrors were large plaques of fern and ivy, beering in the centre of each a design in bright colors. Around the celling were stretched festoons of smilax looped up with laurel and festoons fell from the ceiling. The music balcony was a mass of laurel and evergreen and the hallways and smaller rooms on the same floor as the ball-room were elaborately decorated. Beneath each of the chandeliers in the ball-room hung five balls of red roses. The favors for the german were bouquets of large roses, with a sprig of English by and miguonette tied with satin ribbon and sprinkled with lightning bugs. Mrs. Hayward Cutting received the guests. CAPITALIST CASH A CHECK. The departure of Oscar Wilde from the shores of America did not serve to check the industrious career of Joseph Sellig, alias "Hungry Joe," the "banco-steerer," who so successfully "roped-in" the poet of the sunflower previous to his departure to Europe. An unsuccessful attempt of this notorious confidence man to swindle Mr. W. Meagher, the vice-president of the Keewatin and Lake Winnipeg Mining Companies, of Manitoba, was reported Police Headquarters inst night. Mr. Meagher panies, of Manitoba, was reported at Police Headquarters last night. Mr. Meagher arrived in the city on Saturday and engaged a suite of rooms at the Metropolitan Hotel. Yesterday he was walking in Broadway, when, near Canal-st. he was accosted by name by a fail, slim young man with a smoothly shaven face, who expressed his pleasure at seeing him in the city.

"I do not know you, sir," said Mr. Meagher.

The young man said his name was William Nagle, and that he was a cousin of John T. Nagle, the superintendent of the Keewatin gold mines. He asserted that he had seen Mr. Meagher on a trip that he had made to the mines last summer. Several features and a tolerably accurate description of the mines lulled Mr. Meagher's suspicions, and the Western financier and the fictitious nephew of his superintendent, whose description answers to that of "Hungry Joe," continued their walk down the crowded street, chatting gayly. When opposite the City Hall a third man, wearing full whiskers and well-dressed, confronted the two men. He spoke to "Hungry Joe," and presented him with a bill. The latter stamped his foot, ran his hands through his hair and after vainly trying to beg off from his creditor, pulled out his pecketbook. He produced a check on the Park Bank for $400, and appealed to Mr. Meagher, for "Heaven's sake" to help him get rid of his creditor by cashing it.

"It is after bank hours, and I can't get the money otherwise." he said.

to Mir. Meagher, for "Heaven's sake" to help him get rid of his creditor by cashing it.

"It is after bank hours, and I can't get the money otherwise." he said.

Mr. Meagher expressed a perfect willingness to oblige his new friend, but said that he would have first to return to the Metropolitan Hotel, where he had left all of his money. This statement put the two banco men in good humor, and the whiskered creditor invited Mr. Meagher and his friend to the Astor House. A sumptuous luncheoa, costing $20, was served at the expense of the creditor. When the bill was paid the three men got into a carriage and drove to the Metropolitan Hotel. On the way a suspicion that all was not right again rose in tho mind of the man from Manitoba, and at the hotel he tood his friends that he thought that they were "playing him for a fool." They expressed the utmost indignation and began to make a disturbance, when Mr. Meagher started to report his experience to the police and ask their assistance in octermining the character of the cheek. At this action the two swindlers hashing decamped. At this action the two swindlers hashly decamped.

The mines of which Mr. Meagher is vice-president are situated on an island in Lake Windipeg. He thought that the knowledge that "Hungry Joe" displayed of their surroundings must have been gained by reading a descriptive circular of them.

PRESIDENT PORTER TO YOUNG MEN.

AN ADDRESS AT THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE CHRIS-TIAN ASSOCIATION.

The thirtieth anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association was celebrated last night in Association Hall. The exercises consisted of the singing of hymns, the reading of the annual report by the eral secretary, R. R. McBurney, and addresses by President Noah Porter, of Yale College, and the Rev. Henry M. Sanders, of the Central Baptist Church. There was an audience of over a thousand persons, and on the plat form, besides the speakers, were William E. Dodge jr., ex-Judge Arnoux, Elbert B. Monroe, Percy R. Pyne, John H. Cheever, Charles A. Miller, George W. Ciarke, Charles F. MacLean, William F. Lee, Elias J. Herrick, the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Potier, the Rev. Dr. A. H. Burlingham, the Rev. Gideon Draper, the Rev. George R. Shearer, the Rev. Benjamin F. De Costa and William W. Hoppin, jr., who presided. The annual report discussed the foreign and domestic work of the association, and mentioned the resignations from the Board of Directors of William E. Dodre, Jr., and William F. Lee, and the deaths of Dr. Gillette, the Rev. John Cotton Smith, Frederick Marquand and Robert L. Stu art. In his address, President Porter said :

art. In his address, President Forter said:

I am not a young man, and I have no activity or interest connected with any Young Men's Christian Association, but by the nature of my pursuits, and possibly by scattment, I am constantly brought into connection with young men. Every year hundreds of young men come back to me, and it is one of the happiest insidents of my occapation that I know that when they come back after an absence of two, but, fifteen or twenty years they can give so good an account of themselves, and can so honestly record the finit the teachings have yielded in faith in God, in duly, in the living of useful Christian lives and in the belief in the reality and power of Christian limortally. I know of nothing so worthy of living for as to train young men. I know very little about the workings of your Young Men's Coristian Association, and had no opportunity to study the subject. The thoughts that I will present to you to night will therefore be fresh and the promptings of a tew half hours, but for that reason also perhaps very superficial.

The Young Men's Christian Association has been in ex-

The Young Men's Christian Association has been in exthe round are a current an Association has been in ex-tense not quite a generation and has come up to vic-trous growth from a stender beginning. It grow out of a movement for benefiting young men in a general way, for providing them libraries and lectures and reading young. This recognition of young men. new thing in modern times, and seems to have grown out of a similar social movement some lifty or sixty years ago. The most of you can have no impression of how heart the community was in England and America about that time concerning those things which erow the upon us now. The objection is sometimes ursed that the Young Men's Christian Association interferes with the work of the Christian Association interferes with the work of the Christian Church. But what is the Christian Church except in its relation to that which is greater than the church—the kingdom of tool if How are the daments to young men to be net; By the preaching of the gospel in the churches; so it is thought by some. It is a cheering and significant sign of the times that the siteation of thoughtful men is directed to the social appliances for the salvation of the individual and the world. What may be called infellectual culture, too, is now becoming to be regarded as something which one has a right to demand of his fellow-man. Conduct and character are the main elements of social security and social progress. [Applause.] This sentiment is now held by all who think carnestly and soberly, whether they are agnostics or believers in the living tool who accept Christ in His supermatural claims. It was said by one of the fineat withers of English: "Conduct is three-fourths at least of that with which we need to concern ourselves." [Fifthout character and conduct civilization cannot stand. Is this sentiment now or old Is it a newly discovered philosophical principle or was it already announced by the Master wher. He said: "Make the tree good and the fruit will be good "I The world has gone a long way in reaching this conclusion, but we welcome all who hold it. To-day character and conduct must be secured or society will sink under its acquisitions and fail to plees under its enlightenment. If we have not, then, whatever we gain, we are lost as a community by the very insight and reach of our intellectual advancement.

RENTING THE TABERNACLE PEWS.

The annual rental of the pews of the Brooklyn Tabernacle took place last evening. The church was fairly filled. At a few minutes before 8 o'clock the Rev. Mr. Talmage stepped upon the platform and made a short address in regard to the success and prosperity of the church. He introduced Mr. Burdet as the auctioneer. He read the conditions of sale of then offered the first choice. John Wood bid $100. and Dr. H. A. Tucker $125, and they ran it up to $210, at which Dr. Tucker took pew No. 229. Last year he had the first choice at $140. The second choice also went to Lr. Tucker at $160. The second choice also went to Lr. Tucker at $160. The first twenty pews brought premiums amounting to $1.825. Only the pews on the ground floor were offered for sale, the gallery being reserved for strangers. On the ground floor there are about 350 pews with a stribig capacity of 1,500. The fixed rentais amount to $14,000, tagging from $10 to $100. The amount of premiums realized last evening was about $3,250, making the total receipts $17,250. Last year the premiums amounted to $2,622. Mr. Talmage expressed himself as much gratified at the increase. increase.

PROGRESS OF THE COLD WAVE.

THOUSANDS SKATING AT CENTRAL PARK. The wind yesterday blew the skirts of ulaters and dresses about regardless of the proprieties of life. The cold was felt most severely in the lower portion of the city, where the wind had an almost unobstructed sweep from river to river and the drivers of stages and drays suffered greatly from the cold. In the tree's masses of ice had formed in the night, making them slippery and dangerous for horses and pedestrians in the markets the meat remained exposed to the sweep of the wind until it was frozen as hard as the pavements beneath it, and the fruit and vegetables offered for sale were quickly made unmarketable by the cold. In the rivers there was a larger quantity of floating fee yesterday than on any previous day this season. On the early tide large fields of fise and hummock ice were brought down from the upper portions of the rivers and caused frequent delays in the regular trips of the ferry-boats.

At the Signal Service Eureau, in the Equitable Building, fair and cold weather was predicted for today. Diere were clear skies over the whole country with high winds. At Port Eads, La., it blow at the rate of thirty miles au hour. The rise of the barometer, three-quarters os an inch, was remarkable in being the highest that has of an Inch, was remarkable in being the highest that has been observed this season. The temperatures at the following places were: Moorkead, Mino., 132; Dulath, Mich., 352; St. Paul, Mino., 293; Besnarck, Dak., 255; La Crose, Wis., 235; plainwikee, Wis., 205; Checazo, Ill., 177; Davenport, Iowa, 175; Albara, N. Y., 117, and Omnea, Neb., 105. The greatest fall indicated by the tagenmometer was reported at Provincetown, Mass., where the mercury feil 275.

Yesterian was a gais day at Central Park among the sharers. The main links and the Harlem mere at East One smidted and tenish st. were opened to the lower of the sport, and the attendance was the largest since the nee has been in good condition. On the lower lake the police say that there were at least 25,000 skaters ourned the day, and that at 4 p. in. there were 15,000 persons on the ice. The lake is now frozen to the depth of five inches and the ice is very solid and hard. On the Conservatory lake, near the eastern side of the Park, there were a unmoter of the sconism curing clubs practising, and the ring of the stones, as they giided over the surface of the lee, with the sound of the sportamen's laughter, made a part of a beautiful and cheerful scene.

THE WEATHER IN THE WEST AND SOUTH.

REPORTS FROM CANADA.

TORONTO, Jan. 22 .- This is the coldest day

The annual meeting of the Loan Relief

Association was held in the parlors of Samuel P. Avery, at No. 88 Fifth ave., last evening. Among those present vere Dr. Hall, F. B. Thurber, S. J. Armstrong, E. P. Roe, the novelist, Mrs. Louis Jones, Judge and Mrs. Van Verst and the Rev. Waiter Buchanan. Mr. Armstrong presided. The object of the society is to loan money to those in temporary distress, and togive the sick poor the use of counforts whice they could not otherwise have. The rooms of the society are at Eighteenth-st, and Seventh ave., where contributions can be sent.

THE CURE OF SEA-SICKNESS BY MESMERISM

At the meeting of the New-York Academy of Science at No. 12 West Thirty-first-st, last pight a paper was read by Professor Edward P. Thwing on the fessor Thwing told of several instances where he had cured sea-sickness by inducing the trance state. Dr. John S. Newberry, who presided, gave an account of his researches in the botany and geology of Southern Texas and Chihuahua.

A MATCH GAME OF CHESS. Twenty-three chess-tables were ranged in the rooms of the Manhattan Chess Club last evening, and that number of players were arrayed against Cap tain George H. MacKenzie. The game began at 8 o'clock and lasted over four hours. The best players of the club were opposed to the Captain. The game closed at 12:20 with two draws; M. Framble and W. S. Petison each one game, and Captain MacKenzie nineteen.

CONFIDENCE OF A RECEIVER.

The depositors of the wreeked City Buck of Jersey City held a meeting last might and heard the report of the committee appointed to wait on Receiver Williams. The committee reported that Mr Williams had gave them all the information in his possession. A number of the stockholders of the concern had assured him that they were ready and willing to pay the additional fifty per cent of their subscriptions. Others were either unwilling or unable to pay, but it was his opinion that probably three-fourths of the entire $50,000 could be collected. This, with whatever may be recovered from the ed. This, with whatever may be recovered from the First National Bank and from other sources, will enable him to declare a dividend. It was decided by the meeting that their interests should be left entirely in the receiver's hands.

THE SENATORIAL CONTESTS.

MCPHERSON NOMINATED IN CAUCUS. GARRETT A. HOBART RECEIVES THE COMPLIMENTARY NOMINATION OF THE BEPUBLICANS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.]

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 22 .- The excitement con cerning the Democratic nomination for United States Senator grew very strong this evening, and the rumors of a bolt were more widely circulated than ever. At first there was some difficulty in securing signatures to the call for a cancus tonight, but this was overcome, and thirty-two Democrats of the forty-four joined in the request. The oint Democratic cancus met in the Assembly Chamber in secret session at 9 p. m. Speaker O'Connor was elected chairman and Assemblyman Neighbor acted as secretary. Assemblyman Flynn, ot Passaic, was the only absent e. Dr. Chattle, Prohibitionist Democrat, of Monmonth, nominated Senator McPherson for reelection in a brief, pointed speech, and Mr. O'Connor presented the name of Gottfried Krueger, of Essex. The first ballot resulted as follows: McPherson, 31: Krueger, 4; Senator Smith, of Burungton, 2; Governor Ludlow, 1; ex-Judge Ashbel Green, 1; not voting, 4; absent, 1. Mr. Van Busham moved to make the nomination of Senator McPherson unanimous. The motion was declared carried, although several voices shouted "no." The members not voting were Assemblymen Jernee, Clarke, Kelly and Me-Laughlin, with Mr. Flynn, the absentee. They could prevent Mr. McPherson's election on Wednesday, but it is not believed that they will have the courage to bolt. Secretary Kelsey and other leading Democrats say that the result of the caucus means the certain election of McPherson. The latter is receiving the congratulations of friends at latter is receiving the congratulations of friends at his hotel. The vote in caucus was on roll-call: Assemblymen Hill. arrigan, O'Connor and Chapman voted for Krueger; Badd and Comb voted for Smith; Steljes, for Ludiow; Van Busham, for Green, and the remainder for McPherson. One vote was cast for Leon Abbett, but was afterward changed for McPherson. The Republican caucus met in the Senate Chamber this evening. A long discussion occurred on a resolution to open the caucus to the public, and it was finally lost. The first ballot for the complimentary nomination for Senator gave Garrett A. Hobart 19, George A. Halsey, 14, and Frederic A. Potts, 3. The nomination of Mr. Hobart was then made unanimous without objection.

A MOVEMENT IN FAVOR OF MR SABIN.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22.-The Senatorial situaion has undergone but little change. The most observable feature of the contest now is that a movement in favor of State Senator Sabin is gathering strength and threatens to beome formidable. His friends claim that the votes of Dunnell will go to him and that he will receive enough from scattering votes and Windom's forces to elect him. It is thought probable that his election may be effected by Wednesday. Sabin's name will not be presented until he has nearly enough strength to elect him. Senator Windom arrived to-day, and is conferring with his friends. He says that he did not come of his own olition, but at the urgent request of his supportes, that personally he is not particularly auxious be re-elected, having served twenty-four years in orgress, but thinks his defeat will result in the sorganization of the Republican party of Minne-He is confident of re-election

Sr. Paul, Minn., Jan. 22,-Only one ballot for United States Senator was taken to-day, resulting as follows: Windom, 44; Wilson, 26 Cole, 16; Dunnell, 10; Hubbard, 9; Kindred, 5; Farmer, 4; Start, 4; Davis, 3; Waksfield, 2, and Berry, Stratt, Castle, Gilman and Armstrong each 1; total, 128.

THE DEADLOCK UNBROKEN IN NEBRASKA. LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 22 - The sixth ballot for United States Senator to-day resulted as follows: Stickel, 22: Thaver, 15; Millard, 15; Sanders, 13; Cowin, 13; Brown, 9; Manderson, 7; Morton, : Savage, 4; Conner, 4; Munger, 3; Lake, 2; Livingston, 2; Doosey, 2; Crounse, 2; Weaver, 1; Donne, 1. The entire vote cust for Ashley on Saturday was given to Stickel on this ballet. The seventh ballot was taken immediately afterward with the following result: Stickel, 19: Procedure Episcopa Church, George L. Lorilland to Mrs. Mullerd, 19: Theyer, 16: Cowin, 12: Manderson, 8: Edward Wight (no Marie Louise La Farge.) ward with the following result: Stickel, 19:

Receiver Price finally secured sufficient evidence to call a special session of the Gra d Jury of the United States Court to-day. It was necessary to work rapidly, as the Statute of Limitation expires to-morrow. This afternoon the Grand Jury found an indictment against George R. Eager, Edwin M. Fowle and Abner I. Benyen on evidence of an agreement entered into on January 22 1880, by which they purchased 900 shares of Chrysolite Consolidated mining stock at $20 per share. To pay for the stock Benyon, president of the bank, and Fowle, one of its directors, discounted four notes, three of which were made by Eager and indorsed were made by Fager and indorsed by H. F. Miller, and one made by John Lathrop and indorsed by Miller, amounting in all to $18,000. By the terms of their agreement they agreed to share equally in the speculation. The charge against them is that of wilful misappropriation of the funds of the bank, the penalty for which is from five to ten years in the State Prison. Mr. Price found that the notes had been renewed. Mr. Price found that the notes had been renewed from time to time, but had nover been pard. To night Eager was arrested at his house in the suburbs and brought to Boston, where bail was refused. The officers are scarching for Fowle. Mr. Eager was formerly president of the Eager Manufacturing Company, and was one of the most active spirits in building and equipping the Nantasket Beach Railway, of which he was the president for a couple of years. In view of this fact his arrest is considered significant. Later developments may possibly implicate other prominent people, as the broken bank holds a large amount of the securities of the road. The whole affair promises before it is ended to be one of the sensations of the year. it is ended to be one of the sensations of the year.

TWO RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 22 .- President Jewett, of the Eric Railroad Company, and a party of railroad officials arrived here this afternoon from an inspection trip over the new Chicago and Atlantic road. Their special train was in collision with a Louisville and New Albany pas-senger train at the Wesiern Indians crossing. The en-gine and one or two cars were smashed, and the passen-gers were badly snaken up, but none was seriously hurt. TROY, N. Y., Jan. 22.-The locomotive of a train on the Giens Falls branch of the Delaware and Hudson Rail-road which left Gleus Falls at a quarter past 7 o'clock this morning was detailed about half a mile below the depot, in that place, by ice on the track, and the engine was overturned. Edward Nichols, age eigoteen, the fireman, was killed. No damage was done to the bag-gage car or two coaches which made up the train.

YALE BOATMEN IN COUNCIL.

NEW-HAVEN, Jan. 22 .-- A meeting of the Yale University Boat Club was held to-night, at which there was a large attendance, to take into consideration a letter prepared by the Graduate Advisory Committee on Saturday, to be addressed to the Harvard Boat Club. The meeting unanimously agreed to approve the letter.

ALFRED BRADY.

Alfred Brady, the iron tounder, died at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, at the Rossmore Hotel, in the sixtyseventh year of his age. In April, 1882, he suffered a paralytic stroke. He partly recovered from its effects, but on Saturday he was afflicted with another strake of paralysis, from the effects of watch he died without regaining consciousness.

Mr. Brady was born at Sing Sing, but when a child the family removed to New-York. About 1860 Alfred Brady and his brother opened an fron foundry at Nos. 37 to 43 Greene-st., under the firm name of A. & E. B. Brady. The business grew and prospered, and fifteen years ago, this brother having died, Alfred Brady removed the foundry to its present situation at Nos. 534 to 542 West Fifty fifth-st. He devoted his whole life to his work, and succeeded in building up the largest business of the kind in the United States. For a number of years the manufacture of plumbers' iron castings has been the specialty of the firm. In the Eighth Ward Mr. Brady was once an active politician, although he never ran for an office. About twenty years ago Mr. Brady married Miss Harriel Hanson, by whom he had four children. His wife and one child survive him. The funeral will take place on Thursday.

SHARP WORDS BY BOSTON ALDERMEN.

Boston, Jan. 22.-There was a lively scene in the Board of Aldermen this afternoon when an order was introduced instructing the Mayor to petition the Legislature for an act authorizing the choice of some other person than the city clerk to act as clerk of the Aldermen. Alderman Hall, a Democrat, charged that in the Democratic caucus Alderman O'Brien said in relation to the election of a city clerk; "Any man who dares to vote against Mr. Goodrich is a myrked man." Alderman Hail further charged Alderman O'Brien with having claimed to be the mouthpiece of the Democratic party. Alderman O'Brien gave Alder-man Hail the ite, and explained what purported to be his (O'Brien's) position in the cancus.
